

Contract Integrity & Constitutional Protection

The Legal Architecture Behind the Movement

WE THE PEOPLE: The Summit Freedom Conference 2027 · Atlanta, Georgia

The WE THE PEOPLE Freedom Conference 2027 is built on a foundation of legal rigor that matches the moral weight of our mission. Every contract—from venue agreements to sponsorship commitments—is structured to protect our partners’ investments while ensuring the movement cannot be compromised by external forces.

SECTION 01

Deposit Protections: Staged, Secured, and Accountable

Traditional conference contracts ask for large, non-refundable deposits upfront. We reject that model.

- § Staged deposit schedule tied to verifiable milestones, not arbitrary dates.
 - § Escrow-backed deposits, protecting against venue bankruptcy or failure to deliver.
 - § Mitigation obligations: venues must attempt to resell space if cancellation occurs.
 - § Rebooking credits: fees structured as credits toward a future event rather than forfeited.

SECTION 02

The Discriminatory Legislation Clause: A Constitutional Floor

Our venue and partner agreements include a mutual termination right triggered when legislation is enacted that:

- § Discriminates against any protected class of attendees, speakers, or partners.
 - § Materially restricts the ability of our audience to safely and freely participate.
 - § Contradicts constitutional guarantees of personhood, equal protection, or due process.

SECTION 03

Force Majeure with Teeth

Coverage for public health emergencies, government orders, civil unrest, and transportation disruptions. The trigger is not the narrow “impossibility” standard but “commercially impractical or inadvisable”—protecting against situations that are unsafe or unethical even when technically legal.

SECTION 04

Liability & Insurance: Mutual Protection

Standard coverage of $2M / $4M paired with event cancellation insurance. Mutual indemnification and waivers of subrogation protect all sponsoring and partnering organizations, ensuring no partner bears disproportionate risk.

SECTION 05

The Rotating Venue Model: Built for Longevity

A Master Services Agreement framework ensures consistent legal terms city-to-city, preventing political capture and ensuring national reach. The conference has no permanent home—each year it moves to a different region. After Atlanta, watch for the 2028 announcement.

Let the record speak. Let the truth instruct. Let justice remember.
